Another Cure of Consumption

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WHIGHAM OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army in January, 1865, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physician pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1865, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in lung cases like mine had been highly spoken of, and put myself under his treatment. The doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

UNITED STATES SENATE.

Matters Coming to a Crisis.

WILL THE PRESIDENT OR THE SENATE YIELD.

Discussion on Adjournment.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 11, 1867.

NEW SENATOR FROM DELAWARE.

The President submitted the credentials of Senator Bayard, who was qualified by taking the oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and subscribing to the Congressional oath of loyalty.

TENURE OF OFFICE.

Mr. Sumner offered a resolution that the President be requested to furnish the Senate, if in his opinion compatible, with copies of any official opinions which may have been given by the Attorney General, Solicitor of the Treasury, or by any other officer of the Government, on the interpretation of the act regulating the tenure of office, and especially with regard to the appointments by the President to office during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Sumner said he understood that an opinion had been given which went far towards the nullification of the recent act of Congress. It would thus seem we had nullification here in Washington in the executive branches of the government. He understood that according to these opinions the President was to exercise the power of appointment during the recess of Congress, notwithstanding the recent act of Congress, which undertook to regulate the tenure of office. Now all know the astuteness of lawyers, and it was sometimes said lawyers drive a coach and six through an act of Parliament, or even of Congress. In other words, it was about to force on the country officers who cannot be officers under the laws. It seemed important that before the Senate adjourns it should know the precise state of the question. They should understand whether any such opinion has been given, and the reason for it.

The resolution was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

The resolution to print three thousand copies of the army register for the year 1866, was passed; also the resolution to print five thousand extra copies of the report on the repairs of the Mississippi levees.

THE PROPOSED NEW RULE.

Mr. Anthony reported back the proposed new rule of the Senate, that all resolutions calling on the Executive or any Departments for information, be first referred to a Committee to report the estimate of the probable expense, and that the report be made without delay.

Mr. Cameron said there were many reasons why it should not be adopted. He thought they had trouble enough now without being further embarrassed by rules. Objection being made by him, the resolution went over.

ABSENCE OF TERRITORIAL GOVERNOR CUMMINGS.

Mr. Thayer called up his resolution, calling on the President to furnish information about the absence of Governor Cummings from Colorado Territory, whether he had been paid during his absence, &c.

At the suggestion of Mr. Cameron, Mr. Thayer consented to let the resolution go over again informally, owing to the absence of Mr. Buckalew.

On motion of Mr. Williams, the Senate went into executive session.

OPEN SESSION RESUMED—QUESTION OF ADJOURNMENT.

After a secret session of several hours, Mr. Williams called up the resolution for adjournment sine die on Wednesday, the 10th instant, and moved to amend by inserting Saturday next.

Mr. Howe suggested Monday.

Mr. Fessenden opposed the resolution. He did not believe the Republicans could answer to their constituents if they went home without waiting for the vacancies to be filled.

Mr. Chandler was willing to take the responsibility of adjourning now. If Andrew Johnson was an obstacle in the way, it would be found out by July whether or not they could run the Government without him. For himself, he would not be driven into confirming Copperheads and rebels because otherwise the vacancies would remain unfilled.

Mr. Fessenden replied that the President had as much right to say the Senate stood in his way, as the Senate to say he stood in their way, and as much right to say he would find a way of moving the machine without the Senate as they had. The President did not commit any impeachable offence by nominating officers, but he would if he failed to nominate them. So long as the President preferred to nominate his political friends the Senate had a right to reject them.

Mr. Concklin was willing to remain as long as might be necessary to induce or compel the President to have some regard for public interest in the character of the men whom he sent to the Senate for confirmation.

Mr. Howe was perfectly willing that of two offices one should be filled by a friend of the President and the other by a Republican; but he did not understand that the President was willing that this should be done.

Mr. Trumbull hoped the Senate would fix a day for adjournment. The President would then send in nominations for all the vacancies.

Mr. Sumner opposed this, urging the necessity of remaining to see the tenure of office act enforced.

Mr. Morton favored the fixing of Monday for adjournment. If the Senate and President could come together at all, this could be done by Monday, at 5 o'clock. If the President continued to send to the Senate one class of nominations, and the Senate continued to reject them, there would be no end to the session. One or other must yield. Were Republicans to yield and confirm democratic nominees? For one he said, no. Was it supposed the President would yield? He was not in the President's confidence and could not say. If they both persist, the country will say there was no use in their stopping here.

Mr. Cameron was in favor of fixing a day of adjournment. He would prefer Wednesday at four o'clock. That would afford ample time for business and give notice to the President what they intended to do. If the President refused to meet them by that time then they could adjourn and go home.

Mr. Ramsey hoped the Senate would go into executive session and settle the adjournment question to-morrow.

The Senate, by a vote of 29 against 11, went into executive session, and after some time adjourned.

Bombardment of Vera Cruz—Expected Fall of the City—Maximilian Escaped from Queretaro.

The seige was closely maintained. The water was cut off, and the last bullock in the city killed March 31st.

Georgia's Complaint to the Supreme Court.

MOTION TO BE HEARD TO-DAY.

Civil Tenure and the Senate.

THE PRESIDENT'S HEALTH.

Wool Samples Received.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 11, 1867.

GEORGIA'S COMPLAINT.

In the Supreme Court this afternoon Mr. O'Conner asked leave to place in the hands of the Clerk a bill of complaint of the State of Georgia, to enjoin Secretary Stanton, General Grant and General Pope from executing the act for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and which he would to-morrow ask leave to file.

The Court replied the gentleman might now file the motion for leave.

Attorney Stansberry, as law officer of the Government, gave notice that he should be ready to resist the motion. This bill differs from that of Mississippi in the fact that the President is not named. He felt it his duty to say the Secretary of War desired he should take on himself the entire management of the case on the part of the defence.

The court, in reply to an expressed desire that an arrangement be made so both the cases of Mississippi and Georgia could be heard to-morrow, and the order of argument be understood, said it would think about the matter as it was not now prepared to make a definite statement.

THE TENURE OF OFFICE AND THE SENATE.

It is the opinion of some of the ablest lawyers that the Senate should not adjourn, under the provisions of the civil tenure bill, until all the vacancies have been filled by Presidential appointment and Senatorial confirmation. In some cases the Senate has rejected as many as three nominations for the same office.

It is understood that Senator Sumner's resolution to-day had reference to an opinion of Attorney General Stansberry, read by Mr. Buckalew in executive session yesterday, to the effect that the provisions of the tenure of office bill were prospective only, and did not apply to vacancies existing at the time the bill passed.

NOMINATIONS SENT IN.

The President sent in a large number of nominations to the Senate to-day, including Hunter Brooke, Postmaster at Cincinnati.

THE INTERCESSION FOR MAXIMILIAN.

The President will to-morrow send to the Senate the documents relating to the interposition of this Government in behalf of Maximilian, should he fall into the hands of the Liberals.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate to-day confirmed Lovell H. Rosseau as a Brigadier General in the army; also the following:

Postmasters—Joseph J. Wyatt, St. Joseph, Mo.; John B. Alexander, Lexington, Mo.; H. L. Cowles, Washington, Iowa; C. C. Easton, Havana, Ill.; P. C. Stevens, Springfield, Mo.; George. L. Williams, Carrollton, Ill.

Receiver of Public Monies—John L. Carson, Booneville, Nebraska.

Indian Agent—Wm. P. Callan, of Illinois, for Omaha Agency.

NOMINATIONS REJECTED.

The Senate rejected the following nominations: Pension Agent—Jacob Gilestrop, Macon City, Missouri. Collector of Internal Revenue—James H. Gilmore, Fifth District, Missouri. Postmasters—Frederick B. Lyle, Jeffersonville, Indiana; John McPhetridge, Bloomington, Indiana; Wm. Lawther, Wyandotte, Ohio; Albert G. Clark, Toledo, O.

DEBATE ON THE RUSSIAN TREATY.

It is understood the Senate in Executive session to-day refused to allow the debate on the Russian-American treaty to be published. Several of the Senators, it is said, read written speeches. The vote against such publication was about the same as in favor of the treaty.

WOOL SAMPLES.

A cabinet containing distinctive samples of wool is now at the Treasury Department. The Presidents of the National Wool Growers' Association and Wool Manufacturers' Association are invited to visit Washington and examine the samples.

HEALTH OF THE PRESIDENT.

The President is much better to-day and able to attend to business in his office. Secretaries Wells, Browning and M'Culloch, Attorney General Stansberry and Postmaster General Randall, had interviews with him this morning. A number of visitors were present, but none admitted, the President yet being able to receive them.

INDIAN TREATY RATIFIED.

The Senate ratified the treaty recently made with the Chippewa bands of Mississippi Indians, now residing in Minnesota, providing for the sale of a portion of the lands occupied by them, and for other reservations to be set apart for their use.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 11.—A shooting affray occurred this afternoon between A. H. Hollowell, editor of the Journal of Commerce, and H. B. Branch, postmaster of this city. Four shots were fired, but neither party were hurt. The affair grew out of some comments in the Journal on a letter from George W. McKean, special agent of the post office department, to G. S. M'Henry, chief clerk of the post office here, ordering him to take possession of the office and not allow Branch to have any intercourse with it.

The following correspondence fully explains itself:

To the Wardens and Vestry of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh:

MY DEAR BRETHREN:—After long and prayerful deliberation, and after a careful weighing of all the circumstances of the case, I am brought to the conclusion that the call which I have received from the Vestry of Trinity Church, New York, to be an Assistant Minister of that Parish, to take the pastoral charge of Trinity Chapel, in that city, is a call from God which I cannot and dare not refuse to obey.

I have accordingly accepted the invitation thus extended to me, and, therefore, lose no time in communicating to you this fact, and in tendering to you, as I hereby do, my resignation of the charge of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, to take effect on the 1st day of May next ensuing.

It is needless, as it would be impossible, to tell you the feelings with which this step is taken. Permit me, however, to say, that, in thus severing the ties which have so long and so closely bound me to yourselves and to the congregation of Trinity Parish, I am discharging the most painful duty of my life. The uniform kindness and consideration which I have ever met with at your hands, individually and as a body, has been in greatest measure, under God, the source of whatever success may have attended my ministry among you, and have rendered that ministry so delightful and so precious to me, that nothing but the most solemn convictions of duty could have led me to a sundering of our relations, however tempting might be the call which summons me to another sphere of labor.

Earnestly invoking God's richest blessing upon yourselves and upon the congregation which you represent, and with fervent prayers that He may overrule this painful separation to our good, and to the advancement of the interests of His holy Church,

I am, my dear brethren,
Most respectfully and affectionately,
Yours in Christ,
C. E. SWOPE.

PITTSBURGH, April 6th, 1867.

REPLY OF THE VESTRY.

With great reluctance, the Wardens and Vestry of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, accept the resignation of the Rev. Cornelius E. Swope, D. D., their highly valued and much beloved Rector.

We fully appreciate the motives which prompt him to obey the summons to a more extensive field of duty, and our regret at parting is mingled with the solace that his just merits have attracted the attention of one of the most intelligent and discriminating parishes of the Episcopal Church in the United States. During the seven years of his successful ministry in our midst, he has not only commended himself to our confidence and regard, but by his eloquence, piety, zeal, and devotion to our spiritual wants, he has endeared himself to every member of the congregation, as well as to the community at large. Succeeding to a clerical office, once graced by such eminent predecessors as Bishops Hopkins and Upfold, and the Rev. Dr. Lyman, he has maintained unimpaired the high character of the parish, and can transmit his robes, unblemished, with a brilliant ecclesiastical record, to his successor.

The Diocese of Pittsburgh, to the establishment of which he has so largely contributed, will anxiously watch his future advancement, and implore abundant blessings upon the head of a servant who has been so signally devoted to the Master's service.

Resolved, That the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Swope, Rector of Trinity Church, Pittsburgh, be accepted, and that the Secretary furnish him with a copy of these proceedings.

Mr. English amended by moving a suspension of the rules, which was done, and the reverend gentleman accordingly took the floor, and stated that the petition asking for the opening of the street had been signed by parties who were at the time laboring under a false idea, and that many of those who gave their signatures to the petition were now among those who make up the remonstrance.

False Pretence.

Pauline Short appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and made oath charging Harry Monaghan with having obtained nineteen dollars and fifty cents worth of boarding from her by false and fraudulent representations. Mrs. Short thought that Harry had run long enough, and demanding payment for her bill, she was told that his father owed him some money, which, as soon as received, should be given to Mrs. Short. His story she subsequently ascertained to be false, Monaghan's parent being as destitute of the "needful" as his son. The accused was arrested, but was released on furnishing bail for a hearing to-day.

The Southern Famine—The Meeting Yesterday—It Adjourned Until Monday Afternoon Next.

The meeting called for the purpose of devising some means for the relief of the starving South was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Board of Trade. The meeting was organized by the election of Mr. George H. Thurston, President of the Board of Trade, as Chairman, and Rev. Joseph S. Travelli and the reporters of the press Secretaries.

Mr. Thurston on taking the chair said:

Gentlemen: I am gratified at being called to preside over this meeting, though small in number. I am aware that there are those who think that the sufferings of the South are but just punishment for the terrible wrong that was done in the attempted severance of the nation. That punishment should follow the crime is most undoubted, but I am one of those who do not think that suffering women and children to die of starvation is the proper punishment. For that reason, I feel like doing what little I can, to do good to those who have despitefully used us.

The strife that has but now ended between the two sections of the country has engendered many feelings of revenge and prejudice and passion. The loyal sentiment of the people has been so outraged that it is difficult to forgive. Many desolated households have reason to feel indisposed to extend the least succor to those who have brought bitter sorrow to their fireside. We should not forget, however, that among those now suffering for food are friends as well as enemies, and while the most ordinary of human impulses lead us unsolicited to feed our friends, it is the teachings of the Great Judge of all human actions that directs us to succor our enemies. With the rest of the loyal citizens of this city, I did what I could to aid in sustaining a principle of justice and mercy to a race of fellow men, and in sustaining the unity of the nation and the cause of freedom. In my heart as well as in that of others, prejudices and passions may have been engendered—and my judgment calls for punishment upon those who by so causelessly rebelling cost the country so much suffering, blood and treasure. While we know that the principle we as loyal citizens sustained was correct, and while thousands of loyal hearts felt no fear in going to the cannon's mouth to sustain it, yet there is another principle that is fully as correct, and that bids us feed the poor, and succor the distressed. The city of Pittsburgh was not afraid or backward in sending her treasures of money and her dearer treasures of loved brothers and husbands to sustain the first principle against the rebellious South. Shall she be less backward in sending her treasures of money only to sustain a principle equally correct, and of divine origin!

I for one feel like laying aside all feeling of public wrong, smothering all promptings of prejudice or of passion, and remembering only that these suffering people are kin of our kin, blood of our blood, people of our people, and that women and children are dying for bread. It seems horrible to me that in a land abounding in wheat and corn, and in wealth, that the people of a large section of the country are feeding on husks, or dying from want of that of which we have abundance to spare. Be our private griefs what they may, be our sense of public wrong ever so great; be our indignation ever so extreme at the outrage upon the people and the nation, let us put them aside, and, listening to the calm promptings of our better nature, give, with a heart grateful to Providence for our prosperity, with a liberal hand to the starving people of the South, remembering only our brotherhood as a people, our unity as a nation, and our duty as christians.

On account of the small attendance, it was, on motion,

Resolved, That this meeting now adjourns until Monday afternoon next, 15th inst., at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of obtaining a general attendance of our citizens, and that notice be given in all the city papers, and that the ministers of all churches of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and surroundings be and are hereby respectfully requested to give notice of the same from their pulpits on Sabbath next—urging the attendance of all who are disposed to contribute to the relief of the suffering people of the South.

Felonious Assault and Battery

On Wednesday afternoon, J. M. McGahan, came to the office of Alderman McMasters and made an information against Patrick and William Welsh, charging them with felonious assault and battery. The parties are boarders at the house of Mrs. Russel, corner of Chestnut and Main streets, Allegheny. Mr. McGahan alleges that they came up to the room which he occupies, at a late hour Tuesday night, and began acting in a very disorderly manner, overturning the furniture, jumping on the floor, etc. The prosecutor being awakened by the noise, requested them to be more quiet, when they seized him and dragged him out of bed. They then got a brick, used to keep the door open, and while one held him, the other brutally beat him over the head with it until he was senseless. They then dragged him out of the room, and pitched him down the stairway. Mr. McGahan showed unmistakable signs yesterday that he had been most outrageously abused. His nose was smashed, his cheek and ear cut, and his face almost beaten into a jelly. Dr. McCook dressed his injuries.

The accused were arrested yesterday and held in $500 for their appearance at a hearing to be had in the case on Wednesday afternoon.

Prof. Brewer's Lecture Last Night.

Last evening quite a large audience assembled at Masonic Hall, upon the occasion of Professor W. H. Brewer's (of Yale College) lecture, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The audience might have been much more respectable in point of numbers, as the Association is eminently worthy of more general recognition from the lecture-going community, while the intellectual feast offered was in advance of any of the past season. Professor Brewer is a pleasing and highly instructive lecturer, using the plainest and yet most beautiful language to convey his ideas to the audience. In the description of scenery we believe the learned gentleman to be without an equal, at least surpassing any of the lecturers who have for some years past addressed our citizens. To-night the subject will be doubly attractive—"The Mountain Scenery of California," illustrated with large photographic sketches. Persons attending should take with them opera glasses in order to obtain fair views of the pictures. We bespeak for the lecturer a crowded audience to-night, and insure to all who attend an intellectual entertainment of the highest order.

Choice Groceries and Where to Purchase.

We take pleasure in referring our readers to the card of Messrs. Wm. France & Son, grocers and tea dealers, No. 15 Diamond, Pittsburgh. We yesterday looked through the large and fresh stock of teas, coffee and family groceries just received and opened at this house, and found it very superior. The firm make a rule of keeping nothing but the very best articles in the market, for which they are content to receive the most reasonable of prices. Housekeepers will find the selection of choice grades of black and green teas, coffees, and sugars, to be very fine, while the general stock of groceries, such as enter immediately into every day use and consumption in our families, will prove upon examination all that housekeepers can desire. The retail prices are placed at wholesale rates, so that it is a pecuniary advantage to deal at France's tea mart. The proprietors are fair dealing, honorable business men, such with whom it is a pleasure to deal, and we commend them heartily to the patronage of our readers. Remember the place, No. 15, Pittsburgh Diamond.

The Indian Delegation.

In the city yesterday were delegations of Indians en route westward from Washington City, where they had been on official business. Among them were twenty-five chiefs of Yancton tribe of Sioux, under the guidance of Governor Faulk, of Dakotah, formerly a resident of Kittanning. They stopped at the Mansion House, and were accompanied by two interpreters. Having failed in their mission, after a stay of six weeks in Washington, they threaten to confederate with hostile tribes in a war with the whites. The remainder of the delegation consisted of twenty Minnesota Sioux, and among them was Chief "Red Legs," who participated in the Spirit Lake massacre in 1856. Another distinguished personage had an unpronounceable name, which was interpreted to us as "Man who shoots water as it flies." This warrior was imprisoned in Davenport Barracks for a long time, having taken an active part in the massacre of 1864. They all left last evening for Dubuque, Iowa, whence they will journey on foot to their "hunting grounds."

Another delegation are expected to pass through the city to-day.

Pugnacious.

David Elder came to the office of Alderman McMasters, yesterday, and after being duly sworn, deposed and said that he is a carter, and mounted on his vehicle he was passing along Fulton street, yesterday. Unfortunately, the wheel of his cart came in close proximity to an individual who was engaged in the lofty occupation of carrying a hod. This enraged the gentlemanly waiter of the masons, who, lifting a shovel, made an attack on Elder, chasing him for several squares along the public highway, thereby placing his life for the moment in jeopardy. A warrant has been issued for the pugnacious carrier, with the expectation of carrying him before the magistrate, where he will be forced to answer for his conduct.

Destructive Fire—Two Steamboats Destroyed.

Precisely at a quarter before twelve o'clock last night fire was discovered issuing from the lower deck of the steam coal tug Dauphin, lying in the Monongahela river, at the foot of Short street. The flames spread rapidly, communicating almost immediately to the tug Dick Fulton, laying on the upper side of the Dolphin. The alarm was promptly sounded from the central station and the fire department were soon on the wharf lending every energy to stay the conflagration. But all their efforts proved futile until the two crafts mentioned were burned to the water's edge. The tugs Hyena and Arrow were lying just below the Dolphin when the fire broke out, but—the tug Fox, which, fortunately, had steam up, pulled them out into the stream, and thus saved them from destruction. There was no person on the Dolphin when the fire was discovered but the watchman, who made every exertion to extinguish it, and did not leave her until she was a total wreck. The entire crew, with the exception of the captain and pilots, were aboard of the Fulton. They had only time to save their personal effects. The Dolphin was owned by Patterson & Co., and was valued at $33,000. She was insured for $20,000, or possibly $25,000, principally in home companies. The Dick Fulton, commanded by Capt. Packer, was valued at $30,000; insured for $20,000. The hull of the latter boat may possibly be saved, as the firemen had conquered the flames before the forecastle was destroyed. She was still afloat when we left the scene of the disaster, at one o'clock. The origin fire is wrapt in mystery.

Private Sale Days at Smithson & Palmer's Mammoth Emporium, 55 and 57 Fifth street.

To-day and to-morrow will be devoted as private sale days at the mammoth headquarters for auction goods of Smithson, Palmer & Co., Nos. 55 and 57 Fifth street. This will be pleasing intelligence to our readers, as on days of public sale this extensive mart is so thronged that it is difficult to make selections from the enormous stock of goods kept on hand. The firm daily receive fresh invoices of general domestic goods from the East, bought at sheriff's sale, and consequently have the choicest of goods to offer retail patrons, at prices much below the rates which prevailed anterior to the war. The stock embraces boots, shoes, gaiters and slippers of all the modern styles, and manufactured for the best custom trade of the east; balmoral skirts, hoop skirts, rich and foreign and domestic carpets, gents furnishing goods and an endless variety of notions and general house furnishing goods. These will all be sold at private sale day and evening, and persons desirous of securing rare and unequaled bargains should at once call in at the emporium. A large force of gentlemanly and attentive salesmen constantly in attendance to wait upon patrons, to show goods and inform prices.

Sanguinary Threats.—Winnifed Davis was before Alderman Johns on Wednesday, charged on oath of Lizzie Kellog, with surety of the peace. Lizzie alleges that Winnie is in the habit of scolding her every time they meet without having the slightest cause for that exercise. During one of these lectures Miss Davis declared she would have Lizzie's heart's blood. Fearing this sanguinary threat should be put in execution, the threatened party made the information as stated, and the heavy hand of the law was laid upon the talking woman. After a partial hearing she gave bail for her appearance at court.

Geo. R Cochran, Esq., Attorney at Law, formerly of the law firm of Moffitt & Cochran, publishes his card in another column. Mr. Cochran will faithfully and promptly attend to all legal business or writing entrusted to his care, and from acquaintance we are enabled to strongly commend him to the community at large. He has had large and liberal experience in his profession, in both the civil and criminal courts, and persons unfortunate enough to be in the meshes of the law should seek his advice as counsellor, or give into his hands for attention their claims or case.

Death of an Estimable Lady.—We are pained to announce the death of Mrs. Rhoda Edwards, wife of the late George Breed, and mother of Richard Breed, Esq., which took place at the residence of the family, near Oakland, on Thursday morning. The deceased was an estimable christian lady and the possessor of many noble traits of character which rendered her an object of love and respect amongst a large circle of friends and acquaintences, who deeply mourn her loss. The funeral notice is published in another column.

Injustice.—From a one sided statement in Wednesday's issue under the caption of "In quest of a Husband," we were led to do gross injustice to a very worthy lady of Allegheny City, Mrs. Sarah Powell. So far as she was concerned in the affair she was perfectly innocent, and the inference which might have been drawn from the item did her great injustice. We make this correction upon our own motion, knowing that the lady traduced needs no vindication of her character among those acquainted with her at our hands.

Messrs. Editors:—Will you please, through your valuable paper, inform the young men whose heads are seen daily at windows near the daily Union Prayer Meeting room on Fifth street, watching young ladies going up and down the steps, that their names will be published in full if seen there again. If these young men would come inside and join in the services their record hereafter would show much better.

A YOUNG LADY.

Widening of Virgin Alley.—This project is again talked of, and the proposition now is to take the additional ground from the south side instead of the north, as at first suggested. The desire is to make the thoroughfare of the same width as Fifth street, from Grant to Liberty. It would be a most decided improvement, and the proposed new city buildings, on the corner of Smithfield street and the Alley, gives the matter additional importance.

Selling Liquor Without License.—David Aughenbaugh, residing in Allegheny City, was before Alderman Strain, yesterday, charged, on oath of Samuel Williams, with selling liquor without license. Aughenbaugh gave bail for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court to answer the charge. Despite the free license law the crusade against alcohol still continues.

Sent to Jail.—In our issue of yesterday we reported the arrest of a man named Wm. Foster, for an attempt to commit a rape on a little girl in the Ninth ward. He had a hearing yesterday, which terminated in his being required to give bail in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance at Court. Failing in doing this, he was committed to jail.

Personal.—Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, was in the city yesterday, and among other places of interest, visited the Fort Pitt foundry works. He left westward during the day, and was announced to lecture last night at Zanesville.

Elephant Dead.—The baby elephant "Hiram," attached to the great circus and menagerie of trained animals, of Thayer & Noyes, which is traveling this way, died at Gerard, Pa., on the 6th inst. The great show will eclipse anything ever seen in these parts.

Prof. Brewer, of Yale College, delighted a fine audience last evening with his lecture on the "Physical Geography of the Pacific Coast," at Masonic Hall. He lectures this evening on the "Mountain Scenery of California." He should have a full house.

Theatrical.—Ristori opens in Buffalo on Saturday night. She will play two nights closing on Monday. Madam Methua Scheller the great German actress will star at the Opera House in this city next week, appearing in a round of popular characters.

The Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company is rapidly extending its facilities for accommodating the public. An office has been opened at Fairmont, West Virginia, and messages can now be transmitted to that point.

Leonard Cady was before Justice Barker yesterday, charged with surety of the peace on an information made by Eliza Dupree. After a hearing the case was dismissed and the prosecutrix ordered to pay the costs.

Dr. G. H. Keyser has our thanks for the April 1st number of the University Journal of Medicine and Surgery, published semi-monthly by W. Paine, M. D., Philadelphia. It is an invaluable work for physicians.

The driver of a hearse at a funeral in Greenville, Pennsylvania, was suddenly stricken with paralysis. The horses ran away, but luckily were checked up without doing any serious damage.

Edward Malone came to the office of Alderman Strain, yesterday, and instituted suit against James Madden, for surety of peace. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Released.—John Graham, the man who was committed to jail Wednesday for deserting his wife, Rachel, was set at liberty yesterday, bail having been entered for his appearance at Court.

Altoona folks don't want to be a city, at least so they decided at an election on Tuesday. Never mind, Pittsburgh will take them in some of these days.

Youngstown, Ohio is getting old in crime. Seven burglaries were committed there a night or two since.

The Mountain Scenery of California, is the subject of Professor Brewer's second lecture before the Young Men's Christian Association, at Masonic Hall to-night. Those who heard his eloquent lecture last evening will be sure to attend to-night. Tickets fifty cents.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.

Though too early to nail a Presidential nner to the mast head, or even, per-ps, to hoist one, it is not too early on mparatively unknown seas to "take e sun," find our exact bearings and stances, and note whatever may clearly em to promise favor to the voyage.

What, then, in the case is now as plain as it ever can be made, either by lapse of time or other circumstance, is this: that the American people have fixed it in their heart of hearts to elevate hereafter to their highest place, no man "on trust." Nor do they want simply and only a man who, in the political race, has been found under the national flag. This they will demand; but, also, a man of true and tried moral worth; a man who has faith in justice and in God; who will do right because it is right, because his heart is fixed to do right, and not because it may seem politic to lean that way. The bitter present, full of doubt and dread, in which one may say with Jugurtha, when he looked back upon the Rome he was leaving, "All there is venal;" in which office, place and power are held or given by bargain and "dicker;" where whilome avowed traitors, pretended patriots, political tricksters and unsexed (or worse) women leer in their painted rottenness at the elbow of executive treachery, and direct in doling out offices to the right and left—to Jack and Gill, who have dropped each their vaunted "principles" at the White House door, and come into "the presence" for their "peck of dirt"—these and all their concomitants of wickedness which might make an angel weep, plead trumphet-tongued to the heart of every good man that he pledge himself anew to the Republic; that he give no rest till this Augean stable be cleansed; till the foul altars of this Ahab be thrown down, and white robed Purity and Truth return once more to the chair of the martyred LINCOLN. Let us all then fix this in mind, that the antecedents of the next candidate of the Republican party must be clear as the light, both politically and morally.

Our present trials also show the importance of care in the selection of a Vice Presidential candidate. All we might add on this subject could impart nothing of force to the simple adjuration. Behold ANDREW JOHNSON! Remember LOT'S wife!

We are convinced that what we have thus said indicates generally the views of the leading men of the Republican party. We believe our next nominee for the presidency will be a man whom we can trust and confide in, and that in his great office he will prove himself so true that the dreary four years of our Christophero Sly may, at some future time, seem to us as did his hour of glory to him when he awoke from his maudlin stupor—a dream when it is past—a watch in the night. In that view we suggest as a noble and worthy man who has already given his right arm and his whole heart to the Republic, the name of Maj. Gen. O. O. HOWARD, and we would associate with him on the ticket, the noble, generous SCHUYLER COLFAY. We have here the christian soldier, whose name is linked with all the great battles of the rebellion, and in a manner especially honorable with the historic field of Gettysburg—the grand turning point of the great civil war—and the christian civilian, whose services as Speaker of the House, whose abilities as a presiding officer, as a Representative in Congress, and as the advocate of Republican principles everywhere, have given him a just and enviable celebrity. The east with her manufacturing prosperity, her commerce and her culture presents her chosen son side by side with the mighty teeming west—the seat of Empire, the land of plenty, where a nation is born in a day.

While prepared to adopt the ticket of the coming Convention, whatever names it may bear—provided those names represent the ideas of manly integrity and moral worth here hinted at—we would as cheerfully nail this banner at our mast head as any that is likely to be selected.

WHAT IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

It has become fashionable for men who have nothing else to urge against a government measure to which they are opposed, to contend it as unconstitutional. This cause has two advantages. It enables a man who does not want a particular thing done to defy, as inapplicable and impertinent, the soundest arguments and appeals that may be advanced in support of it. What the objector has to do—is, not to show that the measure is totally harmful, or that more evil than good will result from it, but stoutly to affirm there is no authority under which it can be ordered and sustained. The other advantage is that the objector is enabled, if he so elect, to run off into interminable disquisitions, by which he envolps himself and the subject matter in impenetrable fogs, where sensible people will not follow.

In the early day the Susquehanna river served as a substitute for pork barrels in all the families residing along its banks. Civilization had not progressed so far as to dam the stream with formidable strucures, and fish were plentiful. If a pioneer wanted breakfast he went to the river, caught it, and soon had it in the frying-pan. As population increased this primitive arrangement was interfered with. In the progress of events stately dams were erected, to serve as feeders for canals, and though chutes were put in to accommodate the descent of rafts, they were not so devised as to permit fish to go up. The effect was to deprive people living above the dams of fisheries.

Now we are far from believing this to be a slight deprivation. As an article of common diet fish is decidedly wholesome. A quaint writer urges the rigid observance of lent by the force of physiological rather than spiritual considerations maintaining that the lenten regimen cures more cases of dispepsia than all the resources of materia-medica.

At the session of the Legislature for 1866, a law was passed to compel all improvement companies owning dams across the Susquehanna river, so constructed as to prevent fish from going up to put in chutes, under the direction of a Commissioner to be appointed for that purpose. One or two dams, on the lower division of the stream, were altered as prescribed. Early in the season it was heralded that the alteration promised to be a success, but as no farther proclamation has been made, we conclude the resultant advantages were small or none whatever.

This impression is confirmed by the position assumed by the Central Courier that dams are unconstitutional. The argument is plain enough. The Constitution does not contain so much as one word on the subject of dams. Hence the Legislature has no authority, expressed or implied, to allow their erection. If the Creator had supposed dams to be necessary, he would have made them. He did construct some, which shows most conclusively artificial dams are in contravention of his designs; a kind of practical profanity or blasphemy commonly framed of logs and planks, mitred and spiked together, but sometimes of stones fastened with cement. Lumber has a natural right to float unimpeded down stream, and fish to go up unhindered.

This case seems plain, and is much better fortified than most of the arguments against the constitutionality of special enactments. People dwelling along the upper waters of the Susquehanna are greatly taken with this view, and are making up a purse to fee lawyers for starting a case, and carrying it up to the Supreme Court for decision.

Now, it is easy to see the Courts will rule streams so declared by law are public highways, and dams or bridges crossing them must be constructed with reference to the use they are or may be put to in such capacity. Whether a stream must be recognised as a highway depends upon the legislation respecting it. Stranger things have happened than that the law making the Susquehanna a a highway should be repealed, provided the contest waxes hot.

When the Courts shall have decided how short Civilization and its works must stop in deference to the apostolic and vagrant employment of fishing, it may be well to ascertain what right Civilization has to contract and impoverish the natural domain of hunters. When the Puritan first put his foot on that historic stone at Plymouth, what excellent stalking grounds filled with all sorts of game, stretched away from the sea coast to the Rocky Mountains! The axe of the pioneer and the plow of the farmer has spoiled the sport, in a large part of this once delightful territory. A man of the genius of Thoreau could conjure up many cogent and eloquent reasons for holding this disturbance of nature in her solitudes to be unconstitutional and detrimental.

THE INSANE.

An apprehension is quite prevalent in this and other countries that Lunatic Asylums are used to a considerable extent, by malignant relatives, for the incarceration of those who stand in the way of the gratification of their selfish desires. It is a fact that instances of this character have occurred, especially in private hospitals. In public institutions, at least, such cases have been of rare occurrence, and in private establishments they have been altogether exceptional. Taking a different view of the matter, however, the Legislature of Illinois has passed a law prohibiting the incarceration of any person in any hospital or asylum for the insane in that State who has not been declared insane or distracted by the verdict of a jury and the order of a court. The law also provides that all persons now confined as insane shall have a trial as above, and if not pronounced insane by a jury, be set at liberty. Not having seen the bill in full we are unable to say what provision has been made, if any, for speedy adjudication in this class of cases. If special care has not been taken to have courts convened, and juries impannelled as soon as a case shall arise demanding attention, the members of the Legislature who voted for the bill, and the Governor who approved it, have gone some way towards proving, in the judgment of sensible men, that it would be safer to commit them in a body to an Idiot Asylum than to entrust them with the making of laws. Every man and woman who has even a superficial acquaintance with the nature and treatment of mental diseases knows that unless appropriate remedies are applied at the outset recovery is difficult, if not altogether hopeless. About the only chance the patient has is in prompt measures. Comparatively few cases are successfully handled if a delay of even three months is permitted to occur between the manifestation of the disorder and the application of restoratives. This precious interval, we apprehend, the Legislature of Illinois has seen fit, in its lack of wisdom to take from the insane.

YESTERDAY was made memorable by the adjournment of both branches of the State Legislature. The people will breathe easier. It is to be hoped that Pennsylvania will in the future be spared the disgrace of having a similar body of disreputable tricksters assemble in her legislative halls. Few of the members will succeed in whitewashing their course during the session into the semblance of honesty. Their constituents are alive to their own interests and are about to inaugurate a reform in the selection of representatives, which will preclude the possibility of the return of the great majority of members who composed the recent corrupt gathering of law makers.

LOUIS SCHADE, of Washington, the Attorney of the Andersonville monster, Capt. Wirz, has written a long letter addressed to the American people in vindication of the felon's memory. He may succeed in tickling the fancy of the south, but similar writings heaped mountains high will fail to create any better opinion in the northern mind of the barbarous prison keeper, who only partly expiated his horrid crimes in an ignominious death.

AN unfortunate child of Kentucky has been burdened with nine names at the baptismal font. Among them he bears Geo. D. Prentince's, and that old joker earnestly wishes the boy may live to become a member of Congress! What a cruel punishment upon the mother to wish her son, with the long name, such degradation.

Murder and Robbery—The Body of a Missing Citizen Found in the Canal—The Coroner's Inquest—The Particulars so Far as Known.

About a month since we published the fact of the mysterious disappearance of Mr John Martin, a citizen of Fairmount, who had come into the city to sell a piece of property, and had never been seen again by his distressed family.

Yesterday afternoon the unfortunate man's body was found in the canal near Eistner's mill, on Broadway, where it had been thrown, doubtless, by those who murdered and robbed him on the very night upon which he should have returned to his wife and children.

Coroner Emmert was called upon to hold an inquest in the case. Three incised wounds were found to have been inflicted upon the victim's right cheek and forehead, one of which had been dealt with such force as to cut through the bones, as was ascertained upon a post mortem examination by Doctor Mead.

While the investigation was in progress at the Coroner's office, the wife of the deceased, who had heard of the discovery of the body, called and identified the mutilated face as that of her husband.

Deceased was about forty-five years of age—a shoemaker by trade, and worked at the Globe Shoe factory, on Broadway, near Eight street. Nothing is known of the circumstances under which Mr. Martin met his death. It seem that at the time of his murder ne had with him $672 or a check for that amount, and $25 or $30 in small bills, and that he was last seen in a saloon on Central Avenue. The supposition is that he was seen to display money, and the thieves, who followed him, knocked him senseless, turned his pockets inside out, and then threw him into the canal.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Foreign Miscellany.

A physician in good practice at Ely, in England, has been sentenced to five years penal servitude for poisoning two valuable horses belonging to one of his neighbors. The evidence was all circumstantial, and no motive could be imagined for the crime.

—A man named Ryan recently gave himself up to the police at Nenagh, in Ireland, confessing to a murder committed thirty-four years ago. The widow, son and daughter of the murdered man identified the prisoner in the jail, and the son, who was only seven years old at the time of his father's death, testified that as soon as he saw Ryan "his blood crept at the sight." The judge, however, refused to admit the prisoner's own statements in evidence against him, and he was consequently acquitted.

—A Yorkshireman, commonly known as "Flint Jack," has just been sentenced to a year's imprisonment for theft. For the last twenty-three years he has supported himself by the manufacture of spurious fossils. Roman remains, coins, flint implements, and other forged relics of the Roman and ancient British periods, with which he has deceived many of the most eminent antiquaries of the kingdom. In 1859, having been detected by Prof. Tennant, he was induced to exhibit before various learned societies his method of manufacturing spurious flints.

—A subterranean city has been discovered in the river Sir-Daria (the ancient Jaxartes,) in Turkistan, belonging perhaps to the ancient Parthian period. Some Kirgheez settlers had undertaken to supply the garrison of a Russian fort in that region with bricks. The commandant, Major Yuni, was so struck with the curious appearance of the articles furnished that he was led to inquire where they got them. The result was the discovery of a buried city of vast extent, which the peasants had used as a quarry. A guard has been placed over it to prevent further depredations.

—The Naples paper, L'Italia, gives an account of a frightful massacre committed by the renowned brigand, Domenico Fuoco, and a select few of his followers, on an unfortunate family suspected of being hostile to the interests of the horde of desperadoes. In a few minutes five unhappy members of the Pisola family, inhabiting a farm house near Poggily, lay dead upon the floor poignarded, or their skulls split by the hatchets of Fuoco. Two little children were also attacked, but their wounds were not fatal. It is good to hear that the Pope is entering into amicable relations with the Government of Florence with reference to the special point of brigandage, and with a view to concert measures for its efficient suppression.

—According to a manifesto issued for and probably by the aristocratic representatives of Poland, the number of Poles sent to Siberia since January, 1863, amounts to 18,682, among whom 164 are women and 114 priests. All were transported for political delinquencies, and, according to the offense imputed, are sentenced either to forced labor in the mines, colonization in the villages, or mere residence in villages and towns. In addition to these, 33,780 persons were banished to the steppes of the Ural, as severe a punishment as removal to Siberia, but nearer home. Furthermore, 12,556 persons, among them 218 women and 163 priests, were forcibly made to leave their homes and accept a compulsory abode in the interior of European Russia; 2,410 were placed in the ranks of the army; 31,500 in houses of correction, (the greater part of whom were subsequently removed to Siberia,) and 629 in the churchyards of divers penitentiaries, having died before trial. On the battlefields of the rebellion, as Russian computations show, 33,800 were buried. As 1,468 more were hung or shot by the courts-martial, and 7,000 forced to seek refuge in foreign countries, the total of the melancholy list is swelled to 141,882.

MR. W. MILLER SAYS:

PITTSBURGH, September 4, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Gents: I think I am only doing the part of a good citizen when I testify to the great benefits received by me from the use of your Stomach Bitters during the last five years. Sojourning for a time in the oil regions, in 1861, I had a severe billious attack, which, in connection with dyspepsia, left me in a very weak condition. I was advised to try your Bitters, and, having procured a bottle, found that they worked like a charm upon me, eight pounds having been added to my weight in the space of one week, and new life seemed to have been infused into my system, so much so that I have been induced to use them every summer since that time. As a tonic, I think they are invaluable.

This summer, having had a similar attack, (and as before, much reduced,) although under the treatment of an A No. 1 physician, I was again obliged to have recourse to the old Bitters, and with the same good result, having gained six pounds within a few days. I purchased a half dozen bottles a few weeks since, and purpose to use them regularly as a tonic.

Wishing you every success, I remain,
Yours, gratefully,
WILLIAM MILLER.

PINUS ABIES, OR CANADA PINE.

There exudes from the inside bark of the White Pine, which grows abundantly in all the Eastern States and Canada, a honey-like, sweet substance, highly imbued with that terebinthinate principle which has long been valued as a remedy, in various diseases of the human system, especially those of the mucuous tissues. Dr. G. W. Sweet, of Boston, has compounded from this material a medicine called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND; which has met with great favor in those maladies where the turpentines and balsams are supposed to be valuable.

For Gravelly Affections.
Diabetes in young or middle aged people.
Diabetes in old people.
Stoppage of the urine.
The same difficulty in children during the night.
Gravel, Kidney Trouble in old people.
Ulcerated Kidneys, Ulcerated Bladder.
Discharge of mucus, or pus, or blood from the bladder.
Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.
Pain in the Kidneys or small or the back.
Pain in the Bladder, Heat and Scalding, &c.,

Poland's White Pine Compound will be found a speedy and permanent cure. It is no less to be valued as a general and bracing constitutional tonic, which imparts its health-giving principles to all the tissues of the body, without sickening or weakening the system in any way, or disturbing any one in their usual avocations.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HOW DO YOU MAKE YOUR TEA?—This is a question often asked by one lady friend of another, as they partake of the pleasant beverage, many thinking their friend has a peculiar way of making tea that gives it the pleasant flavor. But after hearing all about it, they very often exclaim: "Why that is just the way I make tea, but yours is far better!" Now, the true reason is in the original quality of the tea. Many persons think that when they have tasted Black tea once, or Green tea once, then they know all about tea; but they are about as near correct as if after seeing one yard of calico a person was to assert they knew all about calico; just so if a person is told the tea so much admired is Green tea, and they send to the store and get Green tea, they may get something that looks green, but being made to sell, no person could make a good cup of tea from a pound of it. The right plan for every one to pursue who wishes a good cup of tea is to purchase the tea only from a dealer in the article, who is a judge of tea, and who pays some attention to the wants of his customers. As I have been long connected with the tea trade, and having lately procured a large stock of all kinds, I am prepared to please every taste with tea. Some persons want a dark, strong tea, without regard to flavor. To such I sell my Black, at 60 cents per pound. Other, want a clear tea, without regard to smell. To such I recommend my Young Hyson tea at $1,00, or Hyson skin tea at $1,00, or Hyson Poko tea at $1,00. Others want finer flavored. To such I recommend my higher priced teas, of which I have a large assortment, bought lately at very low prices, and which I am now selling at least 20 cents per pound below the usual prices. Some persons like a pleasant, clear, high flavored Green tea. To such I recommend my Young Hyson at $1,50 cents per pound. This is the same tea I have been selling at $2,00, and which has pleased so many. Others like a stronger, although not so pleasant, Green tea. To such I recommend my $1,60 tea, formerly sold at $1,80. So, also, of Black tea, of which I have a large assortment, each of which has its peculiar characteristics, but which I cannot now take time to describe.

Japan Tea.—This is comparatively a new tea. It is only a few years since it was first introduced into the United States. But such is the peculiar rich and pleasant flavor of this tea, that it has already become quite a favorite tea with almost every one who has used it. Although rapidly rising in price, as it becomes better known, it is still much cheaper than Green tea, which it very much resembles.

Mixed tea has become a great favorite with many persons, especially in large families or hotels and boarding houses, where a number of tastes have to be pleased at the same drawing. From my large assortment I am prepared to mix to suit any taste or price. My No. 1 mixed at $1,60 one-half best Black, one-half best Young Hyson. No. 1 mixed at $1,20, one half second best Black, one-half best Young Hyson: No. 3 mixed at $1,20, one-third Black, one-third Young Hyson, one-third Japan.

Below may be found a list of prices of my most popular Teas: Black Teas, Powchong strong rank flavor, 60 cents per lb; Black Teas, Powchong, mild flavor, $1,00 per lb; Black Teas Souchong, mild flavor, $1,00 per lb; Black Teas, Oolong, mild, pleasant flavor, $1,00 per pound; Black Teas, Oolong, extra fine flavor, $1,20 per lb; Black Teas, Oolong, best high color, smell and flavor, $1,40 per lb; Green Teas, Young Hyson, good, 90 cents per lb; Green Teas, Young Hyson, good, $1,00 per lb; Green Teas, Young Hyson, extra good, $1,10 per lb, Green Teas, Young Hyson, fine, $1,40 per lb; Green Teas, Young Hyson, extra fine, $1,60 per lb; Green Teas, Young Hyson, best clear high flavor, $1,80 per lb; Green Teas, Gunpowder, clear, high flavor, $1,80 per lb; Green Teas, Gunpowder, best clear, high flavor, $2.00 per lb; Green Teas, Imperial, best clear, high flavor, $2 00 per lb; Japan Teas, uncolored Japan leaf, $1,20 per lb; Japan Teas, Young Hyson Japan leaf, $1,40 per lb. From the above any one can select just what kind of tea they want, and I have them put up in any quantity and forwarded by any of the Express Companies, who now carry goods at very low rates, and by doing so save TWENTY CENTS per pound in the price, besides getting a pure and clean article which exactly suits their taste.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

A Woman Drowns the Child of a Neighbor in a Barrel—She Places a Cake of Ice on the Body to Keep it Beneath the Surface—The Child of Another Neighbor Thrown into the Vault of an Out-House—The Latter Rescued From its Perilous Position—The Terrible Deeds Committed Through Vindictive Motives—Arrest of the Female Fiend.

[From the Chicago Times, April 10.]

Twenty-first street, between State and Burnside streets, was the scene of a series of inhuman outrages yesterday afternoon. For many months past, a woman calling herself Mary Brannagan has been residing in a small frame cottage in the locality indicated. She represents herself as a married woman, but rumors reflecting upon her character have been current connecting her name with that of a negro in the neighborhood, consequently she has been shunned by her former neighbors. This woman has always been an eye-sore to the entire neighborhood, and the female portion of this community have ever stood in dread for the safety of their lives, as her threats of murder were both loud and frequent.

During these brawls she had frequently threatened the lives of the children living in the neighborhood.

The family of Michael Kavanagh, residing at 181 Twenty-first street, her next door neighbor, has been in the habit of receiving something more than their share of her animosity, and these people have been fully aware of the state of her feelings toward them.

Yesterday afternoon their little girl, about four years of age, had been allowed to play in the yard, and for a few minutes the attention of both parents was directed from their offspring, by being called to the front of the building. On returning to the rear of the house, to look after the safety of their child, which for the moment had been neglected, it could nowhere be discovered. Instant search was instituted about the house and yard. In the course of these researches, which were participated in by a number of persons, including two policemen, some one advanced to the vicinity of an out-house situated in the yard, and beheld a little girl crawl from beneath the shed-like covering, which had been raised on posts a little above the ordinary level of the ground. It proved to be the daughter of Mr. Kavanagh's next door neighbor, named Patrick Pidgeon, a child about five years of age. At first it was unable to speak, and of course could give no reason for having been in such a fearful predicament, but when it gained sufficient consciousness and breath to articulate, the child instantly accused Mrs. Brannagan with the commission of the evident intent to commit murder. When Mr. and Mrs. Kavanagh heard this recital, their fears increased ten-fold, and the search for their own child was prosecuted with redoubled energy. Adjoining the low fence separating the yards from the inclosure of Mrs Brannagan stood a barrel three-fourths full of water, while on the top there was floating a large cake of ice. More for the reason that the search should be thorough, than under any expectation of finding the body in that locality, the ice was lifted out of the water, and there to the horror of the bystanders the body of a child came to the surface. It was the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schorier, and life was not quite extinct. But its condition was such that no medical skill could save it, and it died within a few moments. The body bears evident marks of great violence done to it, and the neck is almost black from efforts at strangulation.

The fearful news spread like wild-fire about the neighborhood. Among all these people there was not even a doubt expressed as to who could be the perpetrator of this second outrage. The author of the first was unanimously accused of this, and this feeling became only more decided when it was known that she had endeavored during the afternoon to coax several other children within her yard. Crowds of excited people began to gather about the premises. Everybody living within a block or two was there with the exception of the alleged criminal. She barricaded every avenue of ingress to her dwelling, and then placing herself at a window, with a bayonet for a weapon, she threatened instant death, should any one possess the hardihood to come near her person. A strict surveillance was instituted over the premises. Evidently for the purpose of making her escape, being under the impression that the police had abandoned the vicinity, she made her appearance in the yard, and was instantly secured by officer M. E. Barrett. But not without a severe struggle was she at last confined within the walls of the Twenty-second street sub-station. Although in charge of two officers, this demon fought and resisted all the way to the station, and the air was filled with her voice as she uttered fearful oaths and blasphemies against both the living and the dead. This inhuman creature is about fifty years of age, and represents in every respect the most fearful type of low degraded womanhood.

The little girl whose life was saved by nothing less than a miracle, is most positive in her story. She states that having been coaxed by Mrs. Brannagan into her yard, she was suddenly seized by this woman, and while her cries for help were stifled she was cast into the vault. With remarkable presence of mind, perceiving a small opening at the rear, she struggled her way towards the aperture, and at last succeeded in extricating herself altogether. Although she was enabled to move her limbs she had apparently lost all control over her voice, and hence during all her fearful struggles she was unable to give a single out-cry to attract attention.

The popular excitement in the vicinity where those outrages occurred is fearful, and almost beyond the control of the police. The coroner has been notified, and an inquest over the remains of the little girl will be held to-day, when still additional and interesting facts will no doubt be elicited.

A Novelty in the Art of Navigation—A Miniature Vessel to Cross the Atlantic Without Either Sails or Steam.

The latest invention of this kind that it is our province to chronicle is of the nature of a piece of marine machinery, but which will obviate the necessity of steam, and will at the same time do away with the masts, thus discarding the sails proper, and yet receiving the motive power from four fans or sails of canvas; in short the invention is nothing more nor less than a wind mill ship, the machinery of which is very simple and easily kept in repair.

An upright tower, seven feet in height from the deck, composed of wood and hollow in the middle, after the fashion of a pump, contains an iron rod which is attached to a revolving head on the top of the tower, and running through this pump or tower, to a crossbar resting across the kelson, where, by the means of two miter wheels, working at right angles, a direct acting shaft is made to turn an ordinary propelling wheel. The rod is confined to its proper place in the center of the tower by means of journals. Capping the tower are two miter wheels working on the revolving head, and through this head passes the counter shaft to which the wind mill is attached.

These fans furnish the motive power, and are composed of four oak frames, in the form of a common window frame, the space in the centre being occupied with canvass working an iron rod, which, by means of halyards leading to the decks, can be reefed at will. A reversing motion is obtained from the double wheel on the propelling shaft, and worked by a clutch leading aft to the cock pit. An iron leading from the revolving head to the deck, and held there by a set-screw, and working on a segment of a circle on the deck, enables the navigator to lay her as close to the wind as any ordinary sailing vessel.

The credit of this invention belongs to Captain John Powell, a native of Brooklyn, who is now engaged in building a small vessel about the size of the famous Red, White and Blue, to be worked on this novel principle, in which he proposes taking passage for Europe about the middle of June next. The dimensions of his vessel will be as follows; length, twenty-six feet; breadth of beam, seven feet; depth of hold, three feet. In the case of storms, he can easily reef or take in his sails and heave his vessel to, with a drag. Captain Powell feels confident that he can make between six and seven knots per hour in an ordinary breeze.—N. Y. Herald.

Skeleton Letter.

Many of our readers who have admired the exquisite tracery of leaf structure displayed in the denuded skeletons of plants, may be glad to know how to make such preparations for themselves. The following method has been communicated to the Botanical Society of Edinburgh, by Doctor G. Dickson.

A solution of caustic soda is made by dissolving 3 ounces of washing soda in two pints of boiling water, and adding one and a half ounces of quicklime previously slaked; boil for ten minutes, decant the clear solution and bring it to the boil. During the ebullition add the leaves; boil briskly for some time—say an hour—occasionally adding hot water to supply the place of that lost by evaporation. Take out a leaf, put it in a vessel of water, and rub it between the fingers under the water. If the epidermis and parenchyma seperate easily, the rest of the leaves may be removed from the solution, and treated in the same way; but if not then the boiling must be continued for some time longer. To bleach the skeletons, mix about a drachm of chloride of lime with a pint of water, adding sufficient acetic acid to liberate the chlorine. Steep the leaves in this until they are whitened (about ten minutes), taking care not to let them stay in too long; otherwise they are apt to become brittle. Put them into clean water, and float them out on pieces of paper. Lastly, remove them from the paper before they are quite dry, and place them in a book or botanical press.

The Star Spangled Banner.

One of the veterans of the war of 1812, Col John T. Warner, read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, at its meeting on Monday evening, an interesting and detailed account of the circumstances attending the composition and publication of "The Star Spangled Banner." It was first printed by Benjamin Edes, of Baltimore, to whom it was handed by the author soon after his release from the British vessel on which he was detained during the memorable scenes which inspired this immortal effusion. It was first sung by Ferdinand Durang, in a small frame house adjoining the Holiday street Theatre, to a company of young volunteers called together for the purpose of listening to its inspiring strains. The air of "Anacreon in Heaven" was adopted at the suggestion of Mr Key, and, as it is peculiarly appropriate to the words and sentiments of our great national anthem, it gained immortality that could scarcely have been secured for the original song. The circumstances attending the first production of "The Marseillaise" have become widely know by a popular picture; and the incidents related by Colonel Warner possess a much deeper interest to American citizens.—Philadelphia Press.

Messrs. Editors: On Friday evening the 6th. Mr. M. Johnston, a colored gentleman of talent and ability, delivered a lecture at the Congregational church, near Mercer, Pa.,—subject, "History and Defence of the African Race in America." Mr. Johnston is quite a young man, yet, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather on Friday evening, he spoke to a good audience. He presented the claims of the colored population in the States in a manner at once forcible and convincing. He showed that the whites were responsible for the condition of the blacks at the present time. And after dwelling at some length upon the part taken by the colored men in the war, went on to show what were their rights. He demanded for his people all the rights, civil, social and political, with a power and eloquence that spoke well for the speaker and also the race which he so ably and fitly represented. Mr. Johnston is a native of this State, and resides at present in Washington county, is a fine speaker, and, as we understand, possesses a collegiate education. He held the audience for an hour, and all who heard him were pleased. He is a living specimen of negro talent.

We hope the day is not far distant when we will have many more such, who can take the field in defence of their rights. The great reform of the voter, in regard to the colored man, must be brought about by himself, and the sooner we educate colored men and put them in the field the sooner will we elevate the race and secure the prosperity of the nation. COURT REPORTS.

Oyer and Terminer.

Before Hon. James P. Sterrett.

This Court met Thursday at the usual hour ten o'clock, and proceeded with jury trials.

THE HIGHWAY ROBBERY CASE.

In the case of William Smith, indicted for highway robbery, on oath of Adolph Kaylor, a soldier at the Allegheny Arsenal, the jury found a verdict of guilty. The prisoner was sentenced to the penitentiary for four years for the offense, and having, during the present term, been convicted of assault and battery, for that offense he was sentenced to two months in the county jail, to take effect after the expiration of his term in the Penitentiary.

VERDICTS OF NOT GUILTY.

George Marshall was indicted for the larceny of fourteen bags of the value of ten dollars, the property of S. Marshall, of Clinton. The jury found a verdict of not guilty.

Ellen Scanlon, also indicted for larceny was acquitted.

LIQUOR CASES.

The remainder of the session was mainly devoted to the disposal of liquor cases.

Louis Cella, who keeps a tavern (just now closed) on Fifth street, opposite the Court House, was arraigned upon three indictments for selling liquor without license. A motion to quash was made a few days since, and the reasons upon which it was based filed, but after thorough examination it was discovered that the motion could not be sustained, and it was therefore withdrawn. Mr Cella then pleaded nolle contendere to all of the indictments, and was sentenced upon one to pay a fine of eighty dollars and the costs.

In the case of James Mulherron, against whom there were two indictments, a similar plea was entered, and a fine of like amount imposed.

Patrick Burke was tried upon two indictments for selling liquor illegally. On one he was acquitted, and on the other he was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and the costs.

James Williams, of the "Bowery," on Fifth street, was next arraigned upon two indictments for selling liquor illegally. He did contend, and put in for defense the allegation that he had disposed of his interest and the fixtures of the establishment to Charles Collins, in June last, Alderman Taylor executing the bill of sale, in which the consideration was stated to be $2,000. The indictment charged the selling of liquor by Williams subsequent to the alleged sale. That liquor continued to be sold without license by somebody was not disputed, and the returning officer, by direction of the District Attorney, returned persons observed selling liquor, hoping by this means to secure the responsible party. Edward Barker and Collins, besides Williams, were returned from time to time. The weight of the evidence, as to the proprietorship of the house, seemed to bear against Williams, from the fact of his living on the premises subsequent to the alleged sale to Collins, of whom the officers called as witnesses seemed to have little or no knowledge. The bill of sale could not be produced, Alderman Taylor, in whose possession it was left, testifying that it was mislaid in removing his office recently.

District Attorney regarded the sale of the tavern mythical, and Collins, the alleged purchaser, a myth. The tavern had been kept open day after day, and all attempts to close it had failed. Those who had been selling, and all supposed to have any connection with it, were returned, but the barkeepers had been so frequently changed that it was found impossible to get any of them into Court, and, after great difficulty, Mr. Williams had been secured. Believing him to be the proprietor, and as the responsible party, the jury should convict.

Judge Sterrett stated, in charging the jury, that the evidence for the Commonwealth showed that the tavern had been kept open for a long time in defiance of the law, and efforts of the officers to secure the guilty party or parties had proved ineffectual. The indictments charged the defendant Williams with selling since January, 1867. Two others had been produced, for selling in March and May, 1866, to which defendant had pleaded guilty, indicating that he had been proprietor of the tavern. If the jury believed the bill of sale spoken of was not a subterfuge, but executed in good faith, about the time stated, in June last, the defendant should be acquitted. The evidence went to show that Collins, to whom the sale was alleged to have been made, had not been seen about the place, but that boys had been employed selling, who were changed from time to time. Jury out at adjournment.

ANOTHER "BOWERY" MAN.

Edward Barker, one of those returned for running the "Bowery" saloon, was next arraigned upon indictments charging him with selling liquor there during the months of September and October last. The prosecutor was the returning officer, James McCallum. For the defence indictments were shown, indicating, it was thought, that defendant had already been punished, but upon closer examination the "indication" was that the defendant had offended prior to the first of September, not covering the time referred to in the indictments under consideration. Defendant was indicted jointly with Charles Collins, but the latter not being present or "comeatable, the jury were only sworn as to Barker. The verdict was "guilty." Mr. Coyle, counsel for Barker, requested the Court to take into consideration the severe punishment imposed in previous cases, Barker having been fined $100 on each of two indictments at last term. The Court said it was disposed to be lenient, and calling Barker, inquired of him as to his knowledge about the selling of liquor at the Bowery, first administering the usual oath and telling him he need not say anything to criminate himself. Barker made a statement, giving the names of different barkeepers employed, and stating that while he himself was selling, he handed over the funds to Williams after retaining his salary. Sentence was deferred till Saturday.

Adjourned till Friday at 10 A. M.

A Young Man in Durance.

A young man giving his name as Hugh O'Neil was arrested and brought before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, charged by John Duffy, Esq., proprietor of the Travelers hotel, in the Third ward, with having obtained board to the amount of $26 by false representations. Duffy stated that O'Neil said he was an agent for an insurance company in New York, and had a large sum of money in one of the banks in this city, when the truth was, he was at the same time attending a course of lectures on book keeping in Duff's College. O'Neil, on being brought vis a vis with the magistrate, became virtuously indignant, and began to defend himself by a frothy blow of language great in nothing but the vein of irate spleen that burdened it. His enthusiasm increased to such an extent that the Alderman was forced to commit him to jail until he should become sufficiently calmed to have a hearing.

Assault and Battery.—Catherine Yeager was before Mayor Morrison yesterday, charged with assault and battery on oath of Rebecca Jones. The latter is a lady from amid the rugged hills of Wales, to which her strong love still clings, and it is therefore a matter of no surprise that she should become irritated when the land of her nationality is traduced. This Catherine endeavored to do on Wednesday last, calling all who came from thence by the undignified title of goats. Rebecca gave Catherine a "piece of her mind" in return, and the slanderer of the Welsh knocked her down for it. The assailant, on being arrested, paid the costs and was discharged, Mrs. Jones having no disposition to prosecute the case further.

Whipped Him.—Henry Roberts, according to the statement of John Horner, committed an assault and battery on the person of the latter, yesterday, somewhere in the Seventh ward. The accused was arrested and held to bail for a hearing. The case was before Alderman Strain.

Henry Williams appeared before the same magistrate and made oath against Henry Thomas for the perpetration of a similar offence. He, too, was held to bail for a hearing.

Malicious Mischief.—James McDowell, it is said, is a very wicked man, having a vein of malice in his composition that nothing can appease. Yesterday Hugh Fitzpatrick came to the office of Alderman Strain and instituted proceedings against McDowell for having maliciously cut to atoms the cover of a large peddling wagon, which belonged to the prosecutor. A warrant has been issued for the apprehension of McDowell.

Beat with a Broom.—Sarah Nale appeared before Alderman Strain, yesterday, and made oath charging Lilly and Elizabeth Howard with assault and battery. The prosecutrix, who resides in "Hardscrabble," testifies that the ladies mentioned attacked her and beat her with a broomstick. Warrants were issued.

THURSDAY, April 11, 1867. }

The New York stock quotations to-day as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 137⅛; Eighty-one bonds, 108⅞; Five Twenties, old, 109¼; do, 1864, 107⅜@107½; Five Twenties, 1865, 108; Ten Forties, 97¾; Seven Thirties, 105⅝@106; do 2d issue, 105⅝; 5-20 Consols, '65, 107¼. Michigan Southern Railroad, 67½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 68; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 91; Erie, 54½; Chicago and Rock Island, 89¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 30⅞; do preferred, 59¼; New York Central, 99⅞; Reading, 99⅛.

Gold opened at a decline of ⅜ per cent. from last night's closing quotations, but in the absence of news from Europe and the uncertainty of our securities, rallied again to 137⅜@137½. Five Twenties opened better, though the whole list was weak.

Railroads opened with an improved market, and under heavy purchases, advanced from ½ to 1½ per cent. Pennsylvania State Bonds are offered from all the Philadelphia Banking houses at about 2 to 3 per cent. above par, and a commission can be obtained for lots bought in this way.

James T. Brady & Co. report government bonds in New York to-day, as follows:

—The Philadelphia Press, referring to the recent flurry in gold, and the possible effects in case of a foreign war, remarks:

A little thought will convince any one that however complicated the politics of Europe might become, this country would not suffer to the extent that many are apt to imagine. On the contrary, we should be gainers in many important respects. First, our breadstuffs and provisions would be in demand, as the grain-growing districts of northern Europe, which are now our rivals in the markets, would produce less than usual. Secondly, our securities, as long as we are at peace and prospering, will be likely to be sought in preference to the fluctuating securities of belligerent nations. Thirdly, European capital will be dislodged from many of the usual investments at home, and will be attracted by the lucrative and inviting enterprises which are developing here with great rapidity, both North and South. Fourth, these and other circumstances will make such an enlargement in the earnings of our railroads, in the productive value of property generally, that the recuperation of the country from the languor resulting from the war will be much accelerated and increased. Without approving all these sanguine anticipations we may safely conclude that our financial machinery, if war should break out abroad, would receive much less of evil that some of "croakers" are anticipating.

—Respecting the circulation of the United States securities in England, a London correspondent writes as follows:

An American banking firm in London have just issued a very important little pamphlet, giving the history of the United States bonds and securities, what they are, their cost and the interest they pay, with the amount stated in English as well as American money. The pamphlet will be distributed broadcast throughout England, and as it proves conclusively that the interest from our bonds is twice as large in gold as that from English consols, it can scarcely fail to encourage investments.

—The specie movement at New York since the 1st of January last shows receipts from California to the amount of $6,146,194, and imports from foreign ports to the amount of $409,077—total supply, $6,555,271. The exports to foreign ports in the same time were $6,566,953—showing a loss of $11,682. This statement is very favorable, showing that the receipts of specie since January 1 have about equalled the shipments.

—The New York Financial Chronicle says: The course of prices during the late months has not been what would be very generally supposed, from the dulness of trade and the necessities under which many holders of products have been placed. Throughout the interior there has been a protracted stringency in the money market, and at this port a curtailment of the usual facilities for credit, so that, as a rule, stocks of merchandise and produce have been carried with difficulty. The state of the politics and of the trade of the country has produced a very marked caution among lenders, which, in connection with a chronic expectation of lower prices, has naturally caused merchants to realize upon their goods as early as possible, a course which has produced a settled weakness in the market.

On the other hand there has been a very general curtailment of consumption, especially of those products least essential to subsistence and comfort. The pressure of taxation, the depression of trade, and the exhaustion of means following the extravagant expenditures growing out of the prevailing inflation, have necessitated among all classes a diminution of expenses, which it might be expected would produce a perceptible decline in values. The general result, however, does not wholly correspond with expectations based upon the operation of these causes. The quotations for some articles show a very important fall in prices; but there are notable exceptions to this rule, and especially in the case of food products.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, April 11, 1867. }

CATTLE.

The market for cattle has been more active than for several weeks past, the sales in the aggregate being unusually large, and prices are well sustained. The demand is gradually improving, the attendance of eastern buyers increasing, and this week the arrivals were larger than last week, and as a general thing, the cattle were of a better quality. Prime to extra fat steers may be quoted at 8 to 9c, gross, though there were no sales above 8¼, and it would take an exceeding fine drove of cattle to bring the outside quotation, 9 cts. For stock cattle, there is a very fair demand, and sales were made at from 5½ to 6½, according to quality and condition, and for the present, these may be regarded as the extremes of the market. There was a small attendance of the Philadelphia delegation this week, but as cattle are getting rather scarce in Lancaster, Chester and other adjoining counties in the eastern part of the State, we may expect a large number of buyers from the Quaker City within the next few weeks.

HOGS.

The market has been fairly active during the week, though light Hogs, such as are usually shipped to New York, have suffered a decline of fully one cent per pound, and even at the decline, the market is dull. Good Philadelphia and Baltimore Hogs are in fair demand and steady, though a fraction lower, compared with last week, and we now quote at 8 to 8¼, against 8¾ to 8½ then. To-day New York Hogs were selling at 6 to 6.50, against 7 to 7.50 last week. We have, among others, the following operations reported: Glass, Lafferty & Co. sold 753 head to Singer & Imhoff at from 7.95 to 8.45; also, 377 head to Gilchreist & Co. at 8¼ to 8⅜; 162 head to Orr at 6.30; 121 head to Murphy at 8.30. Hedges & Taylor, 8 car loads at 6¼ to 7¾. Crouse, Emerick & Co., 450 at 8 to 8¾. Singer & Imhoff shipped 400 head to Philadelphia at 8 to 8½; 575 to Baltimore at 8; and 157 to New York at 7. T. F. Orr bought 5 car loads for New York at 6.30 to 7.25. M. Johnston sold 1 car load to Singer Imhoff & Co. at 7.

SHEEP.

The market for this class of stock continues steady, and while good to extra fat mutton Sheep sell readily, and that too, at extreme prices, common and inferior were in limited demand and dull. We quote the former at 8 to 8¼, though we heard of one drove having been sold at 8.90, and another at 9. Common Sheep dull, and we quote nominally at 4½ to 5½. Hesser & Co. report having bought 15 car loads for Philadelphia market at 6 to 8. M. Johnston sold 1 car load, averaging 79, at 7¾, and another car load, averaging 89, at 8.

REPORTED SALES OF CATTLE FOR THE WEEK ENDING APRIL 11, 1867.

Glass & Lafferty sold 15 head good Illinois cattle to Duffey, averaging 1250, at 8.80; also, 18 head at 8.35. Smith & Talmage sold Klemen 98 head good Chicago cattle, averaging 1250, at 8. Smith & Talmage to Aull & Co. 105 head light stockers at 6½. Glass, Lafferty & Co. sold 69 head at same; lot cattle to Todd at 6¼. Maypoll to Duffey & Co. 36 head good cattle, averaging 1200, at 7.70. J. Thompson to P. Klemen 23 fairish steers at 7.40, averaging 1135; also, 49 head to same buyer, averaging 1215, at 8.12½. Klemen to McCormick 18 head, weighing 20,225, at 7.50. Klemen to Ackers 15 head, weighing 17,550, at 7.95. Klemen & Todd to Hathaway 80 head good cattle at $103 per head. Klemen to Wood, Morrell & Co. 19 head, weighing 20,725, at 7⅛. Klemen to N. Wernz 32 head of prime fat cattle at 8.40.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, April 11, 1867. }

The general markets are apparently less active, and not so much excited, but prices, generally, are well sustained. The excitement in Flour and Grain appears to be subsiding somewhat, while in Groceries, Provisions and many other commodities, there is a steady trade, with a demand fully up to supplies, though prices are without quotable change.

GRAIN—Wheat is firm but unchanged; sale of 500 bush No. 2 Spring at $2,80; and 180 bush mixed Winter and spring at $2,72½. Oats scarce and in demand—may be quoted at 60, on track, and 63 to 65, in store. Corn is firm and prime Yellow (shelled) is quoted at $1—sale of 2500 bush on private terms. Rye is in demand at $1,50, and Barley is scarce, and No. 1 Spring is quoted at $1,20 to $1,25.

GROCERIES—The Grocery market is steady with a fair jobbing demand, and prices are well sustained. Rio Coffee is quoted at 25 to 27, for fair to choice. Sugars—12 to 13 for Cuba; 12 to 14 for Porto Rico; 13 to 14½ for New Orleans; 16¼ for Crushed; 15½ for "A" Coffee; 14¾ for "B" ditto; and 14¼ for "C". New Orleans Molasses 93 to 95; and Rice 10½ to 12, for Rangoon and Carolina.

FLOUR—Is less active but firm, nevertheless. We continue to quote at $14½ to $14½ for Spring Wheat; $15 to $16 for Winter Wheat, and $18 to $19 for Fancy brands. Sales of "City Mills Springfield" at $16; and "Pacific," a fancy St. Louis brand, at $18 to $19. Rye Flour, $8,50.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady, with regular jobbing sales at 10 to 10½ for Shoulders; 11½ to 12 for Ribbed Sides, and 15½ to 16 for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 13 to 13½, and Mess Pork, $23,50.

SEEDS—Cloverseed is in fair demand and firm, with sales at $12. Timothy Seed is dull and unchanged—small sales at $3@3,25. Flaxseed is scarce and in demand at $3—an advance.

HAY—Is in demand, and prime Timothy is a shade higher, being quoted at $26 to $27. Sale of 1 car fair at $25.

BUTTER—Is in rather better supply, and the market is a shade easier. We now quote prime to choice Roll at 35 to 38.

EGGS—In demand at 23.

GREEN APPLES—Scarce, and in demand but unchanged. We continue to quote at $5 to $6.

POTATOES—The demand is fully equal to the supply, and the market is firm with regular sales of prime Peach Blows in store at 95c to $1.

OIL—Lard Oil is in fair demand and firm at $1,10 for No. 1, and 90c for No. 2.

PIG LEAD—Firm; sales at 10½.

LIME—Sales in store, at $2 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Dull and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, April 11, 1867. }

CRUDE—The market was steady and moderately active to-day, while prices have undergone no quotable change—6¾ on the spot, and 7c for May. Sale of 4500 bbls, in two lots, at 6¾; 2000 for April, seller's option, at 6¾; 1000 on spot, at 6¾; 500 do, at 6¾; 100 at 7, bbls returned, and 100 do at 11½. The receipts continue liberal, and while there is no disguising the fact that the stock is large, holders are firm, and the offers to sell are not as numerous as many are led to suppose. Telegrams from Oil City to-day quote at $2,35 to $2,40, which, if correct, is a still further advance at that point.

REFINED—The fact that there is an improved inquiry for bonded oil, has stiffened up the market considerably, and buyers are more numerous than sellers at present quotations. We can report a sale of 2500 bbls prime light straw to white, to be delivered between August and December, buyers's option, at 30c, delivered in Philadelphia, and 1000 bbls standard white, for April, at 31½, on board cars here. For immediate delivery, prime light straw to white may be quoted at 26, and standard white at 27. Free oil is quiet and unchanged.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

Miller & Co.	830	W. Haldeman	2100
R. D. Cochran	2500	W. F. Logan	660
Jas. Wilkins	1600	Dilworth & Bro.	5500

New York Financial Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 11.—Money is in ample supply and easier. Call loans on governments and stock collaterals rated at 6@7 ₽ cent. Prime discounts 7@8. Gold active, less excited, and at the close weak. Cash gold loaned from 1-64 to flat. Sterling weaker and quiet, at 9⅝@9¾. One principal drawer refuses to sell at any rate. Cotton bills are neglected. Governments quiet but firmer; closing rates were: Coupons '81, 108⅞; do '64, 107⅜@107½; do '65, 107⅝@108; January and July, 107⅛@107¼; August 7-30s 106; June and July, 105⅝.

There was a more cheerful feeling generally in the Stock Exchange this afternoon, and a sharp recovery on railways from last evening. There was a good demand for all the leading shares, chiefly to cover short contracts. The greatest advance was on stocks which fell most yesterday. After call the market was firm and weak alternately, but on the whole rather higher than at the board. Prices were lower at the one o'clock board, but after call had recovered to nearly the highest prices of the morning market, but were again lower at the second board, and subsequently fell an additional fraction off.

Wm. Heath & Co. report the following prices at 5:30 P. M: Gold, 136⅞@136⅞; Ohio Certificates, 23½@23¾; Canton, 42½@44¾; Cumberland, 28@30; Quicksilver, 27½@29; Mariposa, 7@8; preferred, 20@21; Western Union Telegraph, 37¾@37⅞; New York Central, 99⅞@99⅞; Erie, 54⅛@54¼; Reading, 98⅞@98⅞; Michigan Southern, 67⅜@67½; Illinois Central, 113; Pittsburgh, 67⅞@68⅛; Toledo, 117⅛@118; Rock Island, 89⅜@89½; Northwestern, 31⅛@32; do preferred, 59⅛@59½; Fort Wayne, 90⅛@90¼.

Border State bonds dull and a fraction lower. Missouri 91½@92; Pacific 95; Hannibal and St. Joe 80@84; new Tennessee 62½. Steamship shares higher and firm. Pacific 123¼@123½; Atlantic 80½. RIVER NEWS.

The river remains about stationary at this point, with scant ten feet in the channel by the Allegheny marks last evening. The weather yesterday was cool but pleasant, and all that could possibly have been desired for the transaction of out-door business. Freights continue scarce, and boats experience considerable difficulty in picking up anything like a paying trip.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO SHIPPERS.—The fine Packet, Ida Rees, Captain Joseph Brown, will leave for Cincinnati and Louisville, positively, on Saturday at 5 P. M.

There has been no transient arrival since our last report. The Ezra Porter left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Tuesday with a pretty good trip, including three hundred tons of freight. The Robt. Moore, from Portsmouth, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

Capt. James H. Marratta, of the Emma No. 3 was in the city yesterday. The Emma is engaged in the Cincinnati and New Orleans trade. The Westmoreland (also a Pittsburgh boat) is now loading at Cincinnati for New Orleans.

The Silver Lake will leave for the Idaho gold regions this morning, at seven o'clock, with a very good trip of passengers, but only a moderate freight list. She will doubtless pick up all the freight she can carry below.

The Lorena, Capt. Sam Shuman, is filling up steadily for St. Louis, as is also the Glendale, Capt. J. H. Hare. These are both good boats, and we have no doubt they will both get good trips.

The Columbia, Captain Reed, is now in turn for the Upper Mississippi, and will be the first boat out for that point. The Ida Rees, Capt. Joe Brown, is up for Cincinnati and Louisville.

The R. C. Grey, from Louisville, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The question has repeatedly been but to the Louisville papers in regard to the machinery on the Richmond, as to whether it was not the same that was built for and employed on the Jacob Strader. As will be seen by the following, the Journal, of that city, acknowledges "the corn:" "Five of the boilers as well as the machinery were taken out of the well-known low pressure steamer Jacob Strader, and were made at Cincinnati in 1860, expressly for that boat."

As the hull and cabin were built at Madison, and the boilers and engines at Cincinnati, we can't see what basis the Louisville papers have in claiming the Richmond as a Louisville boat. The claims of both Madison and Cincinnati are stronger than those of Louisville.

The following named boats were in port at Cincinnati on Tuesday: New York, Shamrock, Wauanita, Silver Cloud No. 2, Lawrence, Camelia, Tahlequah, Nightingale, Lizzie Hopkins, Armadillo, Emma No. 3, Harry Dean, Pine Grove, Swallow, Emperor, Havana, Darling, Westmoreland.

The Glasgow, Kate Robinson, and Sherman from St. Louis, and the Julia No. 2, from Wabash river, arrived at Cincinnati on Tuesday, and the Ezra Porter, Sherman and Glasgow were advertised to leave there for Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Tuesday, says: Arrivals are numerous, and receipts of produce heavy. There is not sufficient room at the wharf for the steamers. A boat from the Missouri has just brought a heavy load of cattle, tobacco and grain. The Leclaire has arrived from Pittsburgh for the Missouri. She leaves to-morrow, and will run in the packet line between Omaha and Sioux City. The Golden City has arrived from Cincinnati, full of passengers. She will get a good load back. Capt. Russell left some days ago for Pittsburgh, to purchase another towboat for the Mississippi Valley Company. It is thought he may have secured the Bozz for $60,000.

The Evansville Journal speaks of the Richmond as follows: It is to be greatly regretted that she did not arrive in daylight, that her exquisite symmetry and graceful appearance on the water might have been clearly seen and fully appreciated. As it was, however, she was visited by our people in thousands, and it is not exaggeration to say that two-thirds of our entire population went aboard of her between that time and mid-night. After waiting an hour for the crowd to thin out, we worked our way across the Alice V., to her guard, and leaped thence to a pile of hay, was hoisted to her boiler deck. The crowd across the levee precluded all chance for a man of modest mein or delicate frame from reaching her by regular route. Upon reaching her cabin, we found it densely packed from bow to stern. We thought that the crowd on the Great Republic was immense, but the crowd visiting the Richmond far surpassed it. Conducted by Capt. J. Stut Neal in person, we were shown through the entire boat, her spacious cabin, her parlor-like staterooms, to her observatory, thence down through the nursery and negro cabin to the after guards, and through every department, including her engine rooms, where we found a great crowd of machinists examining and admiring her massive and ponderous engines. After a careful survey, it is our deliberate judgment that the Richmond is the most perfect steamboat, taken in all particulars, that was ever built on the western waters. The Great Republic is more massive, espacious and unique—but the Richmond is more symmetrical and comely. The cabins of the Republic are more gorgeous, spacious and ornamental, those of the Richmond more chaste and tasteful; while the staterooms of the Richmond have no equal in size or comfort, forming pleasant parlors and bedrooms combined, where a whole family can have their meals served, and by a private door, can with their next neighbors form regular house circle, shut out from the annoyance of a crowd in the main cabin. Everything is compact, tasteful and elegant. We have no doubt that, seen by daylight, she will sit in the water the handsomest craft afloat. There is no need to disparage the Great Republic to praise the Richmond. Each in their style are incomparable, and between them no ungenerous rivalry should exist. The offices of the Richmond are neither so ornamental nor convenient in our judgment as that of the Great Republic, though the offices of the Richmond are not so crammed and inconvenient as we had been led to suppose.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, of Wednesday, says: A case of importance and interest to steamboatmen came up in the Superior Court yesterday. In December, 1865, the steamer Peerless, on the Ohio river, three miles above Cairo, struck the wreck of the gunboat Blackhawk, was run ashore, sunk and careened, and was burned. Messrs. Powell, Hutchinson & Quickmore have brought suit against Captain Oakes and others, owners of the boat, for $12,000 damages, sustained by them in the loss of freight shipped on the Peerless, through, as they allege, the negligence and want of proper care on the part of the officers of the boat.

Says the Louisville Journal, of Tuesday: The Collier, a towboat, from above, with a tow of coal, destined for the lower river, while trying to get two of her barges into the canal, got hard aground and was compelled to get barges to lighten up before she could get them off. Late in the afternoon they were safely off, and went on their way rejoicing.
